Isn't it a blessing to be able to come together to give honor and praise the creator of this world! Our aim is to honor Him and with our worship and our lives. If you are visiting with us, we are honored at your presence.

Today we are continuing our examination of the accounts of conversion in the book of Acts. This morning we will look at the day that everything changed for Saul of Tarsus. The risen Lord appeared to him in a bright light causing him to lose his physical sight, but this was the day his spiritual eyes were opened. Once he was able to see things from the perspective of God's view of his life, he made the decision to change directions and walk with the Lord Jesus.

The morning we hope to enlighten ourselves to God's will for our lives as we examine, "What a Blind Man Saw." Please plan to be back tonight as we see the conversion of Cornelius in Acts 10. We are so glad you have joined us!
