Good morning! It is good and right to come into the presence of the Lord and to praise His name. May we give Him the honor He deserves in our worship and in our lives. If you are visiting with us we are so glad you have joined us for this time of devotion and praise.

This morning we will look at Solomon's conclusion to his search for happiness and purpose in the book of Ecclesiastes. This was a painful and costly search for Solomon and we will do well to listen to his advice and learn from his mistakes. His conclusion came when he realized that life without God has no real purpose or meaning. A life lived without considering the world that is yet to come is truly meaningless, but once we understand our proper place in the plan of God in this world we can find purpose and hope. May we all be encouraged by the study of this book and may our young people put it in their minds and in their hearts as they prepare for the Bible bowl.
