Summits of the Psalms

By: Joe Macer

Psalm 103

103:6 The Lord is compassionate and gracious, slow to anger, abounding in love.

God is so good to us. We are treated far better than we deserve. We are all sinners who have rebelled against his holy and perfect way. God knows we came from dust and we have weaknesses. The Psalmist marveled at the fact that God does not treat us as we deserved. Think of how offensive that sin is to God and yet he shows us love and compassion. God is so willing to forgive. In amazement we read the words of this writer that declares that "as far as the east is from the west, so far has he removed our transgressions from us." What compassion he has for us. This Psalm begins and ends with praise for God. How easy it is to honor his name when he is so kind, merciful and gracious to us. "The Lord's love is with those who fear him ... with those who keep his covenant and remember to obey his precepts."

Not only does God forgive but he also presents us benefits that we do not deserve. Besides forgiveness, God heals our diseases, redeems our life from the pit, crowns us with love and compassion, satisfies us with good things and renews the vigor of our youth. He looks at us as his children. Fathers are willing to show compassion to their children when they make mistakes. God does the same for us. Moving far beyond this writer's day, we as Christians have seen the depth of this love in God sacrificing his Son Jesus Christ on the cross of Calvary. What an enormous amount of love to give his Son as payment for our sins. Should we not praise his name day after day for such wonderful benefits? Never forget his amazing characteristics. Praise His holy name!
